

Vikings

(By Zoie n Michal)

Jeg vil lære Om vikinger? Or at least that is what a Viking would say. That was in Norwegian. It means "I want to learn about Vikings". Since we already started talking about Vikings, let's talk about some facts!

Vikings used to be peaceful people, they farmed and fished. But when the ground got colder and drier, they wanted to attack places and claiming their land. Vikings came to invade Ireland in 795 AD. They sailed over to different other countries as well, using long ships.

Long ships:

Vikings travelled using long ships. They were long ships and could hold a mass of 60 people.

Here are some things me and Michal learned

- Firstly we found out that Vikings actually DIDN'T wear hats with horns. :O
- We also found out that Vikings had pretty good hygiene.
- Vikings weren't all about raiding and killing, they spent most of their time farming and loved stories, riddles and songs.

Here are some questions we had:

Did they do sport?

Yes, they actually really enjoyed skiing.

Did they grow food?

We found out that they spent most of their life farming.

Vad åt de? (What did they eat?)

They ate buttered bread or bread with butter.

How long did an average Viking live for?

We found out that an average Viking would live for only 20 years!!!

I hvilke huse boede vikinger i?

(In what houses did Vikings live in?)

They lived in small huts made of wood and rarely out of stone. There was only one room

Extra facts:

- They spoke Old Norse
- They wore woollen, linen and cotton clothes.
- Rollo, was the first ruler of Normandy.
- They drank mead.
