

Is Homework Necessary?

By Ethan 5th class

I strongly believe that homework isn't necessary because it wastes time, You don't have enough time with your family, if you have instrument or Sports practice like me. I have to quickly do homework before guitar. And sometimes I could get answers wrong. Also sometimes you could get stressed while you do homework.

Firstly what if you have guitar or soccer practice that night? You might not have time to do all your homework. If you have no homework what so ever you could practice so that you're ready instead of going without being lazy and sitting down doing your homework.

Secondly you can spend more time with your family. If you have a sibling especially a younger one you need to spend more time with them and play with them. Or what if you need to do chores you have more time to do them. Or what if you have to do something very important?

Thirdly our teacher Mr.Kinsella has to correct two hundred and sixteen copies a week instead of relaxing. But if we didn't have homework Mr.Kinsella wouldn't have to correct all of them. And now imagine other teachers with over thirty students!!

In conclusion I strongly believe that homework is not necessary because we need more time with our friends and family, if you have sports or instrument practice you need to practice before you go just in case and if you have chores you have more time.

Dear Ms.Doherty, I hope you agree with this persuasive writing. I understand soon you'll be composing the school's homework policy.
