

Is Homework Necessary? By Naseem

I am writing to the principal I sharply believe homework is a useless creation, because you have after school activities like soccer, family time with family and relaxing time when you really want to relax after a long day of school.

First of all individuals similar like myself take afterschool lessons like football, and with homework around you will never have enough time to finish homework and you wouldn't be able to get ready for your afterschool activities, and sports keep you healthy, and homework also sports increases the chance of a good sleep.

Second of all several people have siblings that you want to play with and with homework you can for example people who have siblings really want to play with them ,plus you have to Homework, so in advance you need to have no homework .

Third of all Mr.Kinsella has to correct two-hundred and sixteen copies all week and he would like to relax after a hard day of correcting and he would like to do something fun like go to the shop and buy something or have fun with his own family.

Lastly we all want to relish ourselves and homework halts that so why do we have homework? We don't know so we don't want any type of homework at all so please can we have no homework.

In conclusion I sharply believe that homework is useless and we don't need homework because of activities family teachers and relaxing. Ms.Doherty please consider my opinion on homework please, because you are going to be writing the homework policy so please consider.
