

Is Homework Necessary By Madelynne! To Ms, Doherty.

I am writing to say that homework is not necessary and I am going to try to persuade you why it is not necessary. I am going to give you four good reasons like it takes away family time and after school activities make it longer, and you also don't get to spend time with your siblings and my poor teacher has to correct all of our copies. I am sure that at the end of this text you will be persuaded.

Firstly are homework takes an hour and it is harder to spend with my family and I know it is not just me who thinks this it is other people in my class who think this to. And I would love to spend more time with my family because I have two little sisters and my mom and dad are usually home at that time.

Secondly some people have after school activities and I used to have an after school activity and for me it was not fun because after I knew I had to do my homework. I guess I'm just saying it is something I do not look forward to.

Thirdly I love playing with both of my little sisters they are very fun and make my life more exiting. And when I have to do an hour of homework it takes all the fun away when I don't get to play with them. I am the oldest child in my family and I need to spend time with my siblings and show them a good example.

Lastly my poor teacher has to correct our copies every single day when he works so hard for us every single day. Mr.Kinsella is a great teacher and he deserves more than this.

So are you persuaded? I hope you are because as you can see homework is not very nice. Maybe just less homework at least. You probably think we are just going to go on the internet but not everyone is like that like almost every day I go on the trampoline with my two sisters and it is so much fun. Thank you for listening.
