

Is Homework Necessary?

By Maja

I believe that homework is not necessary. I believe so because of homework you spend less family time, it can also give stress, you can stop being fit and the teacher has to correct all of the student's homework EVERYDAY. You can read this to know why I believe homework is not necessary.

Firstly, homework gives less family time. I think family time is very important because if you don't have family time you might stop trusting each other as much. Or someone has a big problem and you don't know about it because you are too busy with your homework so you can't help them and because of that they might get a depression (if it's a bad problem).

Secondly, homework can give you unnecessary stress. Why, because your grades also depend on your homework, so if you don't have good grades you might fail a year, and some students are scared of that (kind of like me).

Thirdly, you can get less exercising done. If children don't exercise they might start having back problems, and if you don't exercise you can get unhealthy. Having a lot of homework in your bag can make it heavy and having a heavy bag is bad for your bag.

Lastly, the POOR teachers have to correct all of that homework every week. They can do something else then sit there correcting all day. They could be having chocolate cake or enjoying their time with the other teachers. There is so many things they can do other than correct homework.

This is why I believe homework is not necessary. Who wants to not have family time? Who wants to stress? Who wants to become unfit? Who wants to correct ALL of that homework? In other words, I think homework is a waste of time.
