

Is Homework Necessary

By Oscar

I think homework is not necessary because we already spend 5 hours and a half in school. If you have younger siblings you get less time with them and also less family time. If have after school activities you have less time to do homework like I have hip-hop and I sometimes I rush to get to the bus .

To begin with if you have a younger sibling like me you have less time playing with them like go outside playing football or playing basketball etc.

Secondly if u have after school activities like I do hip-hop I don't have time to do my homework well I do but I have to rush and when I have a homework pass I only get to use it on Wednesday and it's really annoying.

Thirdly you also have less family time with your family. When you have a lot of homework because sometimes it could take a day to finish homework.

In conclusion I think homework is not necessary because we need family time and spend more time with my sibling so that's why I think homework is not necessary bye.
