

Is Homework Necessary?

By Seán 5th class

I strongly believe that homework is not necessary because we waste an hour not becoming active, we get less time to spend with your family, If you have training you get do it instead of worrying about doing it. Also homework can cause unnecessary witch is not fun and homework can ruin your relationship with your siblings and your family.

Firstly what if you have anything to do like football practice once you go there and come back and do homework and once your done and then its bed time and you're just thinking that you could have probably enjoyed the rest of your hour without doing homework before you go to bed.

Secondly our teacher has to correct two hundred sixteen copies a week which means our teacher spend at least an hour and half correcting our copies. And if we didn't have homework he wouldn't be correcting our copies Mr.Kinsella could be learning us more and imagine the teacher that have thirty students.

Thirdly unfortunately homework stops from enjoying every second with our families and friends because you could be going somewhere with your family or going to play with your friends

In conclusion I think that homework is not necessary because we need more time with our family and siblings and if you any type of practice and then you're finished it and you come back home and then you have to do homework which takes up the rest of your day and if we don't get homework we could just do chores if you have any or if you do them.

Ms. Doherty I hope you consider my reasons to give no children in CSCNS homework and maybe you shouldn't do the homework policy your thinking of doing for the school BYE!!!
